INCLEMENT WEATHER INFORMATION

As the season for inclement weather approaches, we have a plan for possible school closing days. Our teachers will continue to provide instruction either virtual learning platforms or, in some cases, by sending packets home. Teachers will be available to students and be checking in on progress during a school closure. If we have enough advance warning of a closing, we will send student devices or packets home the day before. Let's hope the weather stays moderate, but plan for possible inclement weather.

School closings/delays will be sent via automated calls/texts and will be posted on Facebook and our website. *Please make sure the office has your current phone number for the automated phone calls for delays and closures.

Happy December Families!

Cold and flu season has arrived. Please continue to check and monitor your child for illness daily. Please keep your child home if ill until symptom-free for 24 hours. As handwashing can prevent the spread of illness, let's celebrate National Handwashing Day by washing our hands and preventing the spread of germs!

The cold weather has also arrived, which means a lot of children playing in the snow and cold weather. Kids, please remember to dress warm, cover exposed skin, and come inside when you feel cold to protect yourself from frost bite and hypothermia.

Happy Holidays!
